

Major CTY Programs and Services

Talent Search – conducts the nation's oldest and most extensive university-based talent search for highly able youth.

Summer Academic Programs – offers three-week residential and day programs at 21 sites across the US:

1. CTY Young Students Day Programs are for qualifying students who completed the 2nd, 3rd, or 4th grades
2. CTY Young Students Day and Residential Programs are for qualifying students who completed 5th or 6th grades.
3. CTY and CAA Residential Programs are open to qualifying students up to age 16¾.

Distance Education – Provides academically challenging courses in writing, mathematics, computer science, and physics, guided by CTY tutors. Uses online and CD formats to enable students to take accelerated courses year-round at home or school.

Family Academic Conferences – Offers exciting one-day and overnight programs for talent search participants and their families at college, university, science center and museum sites around the country.

Diagnostic and Counseling Center – Provides educational assessment, planning, and counseling services to students, parents, and schools. Open to all students.

Study of Exceptional Talent (SET) – Continues the work of Hopkins professor Julian Stanley in studying and working with children who score over 700 on either portion of the SAT exam before age 13.

Research – Conducts studies relating to gifted education and the nature of high academic ability.

West Coast Office – Supports CTY's growing talent search and summer programs in California and elsewhere in the western U.S.
